What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Risk Indicator

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for 5 years. The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk in the product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you.

We have classified this product as 3 out of 7, which is a medium-low risk class. This considers two elements: (1) the market risk - that the potential losses for future performance are rated at a medium-low level; and (2) the credit risk - that poor market conditions that are unlikely to impact our capacity to pay you. This classification is not guaranteed, may change over time and is not a reliable indication of future risk. The lowest category does not mean risk free.

Be aware of currency risk. The currency of the Share class may be different from that of your country. As you may receive payments in the currency of the Shares and not that of your country, the final return will depend on the exchange rate between these two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above. If the currency of the Share class is different from the currency of the Fund, exchange rate fluctuations will affect the return on investment. Also, the Fund will make investment in different currencies.

What happens if the Manager is unable to pay out?

Losses are not covered by the investor compensation or guarantee scheme. The investor may not face a financial loss due to the default of the Manager. The assets of the Fund are held in safekeeping by its Custodian. In the event of the insolvency of the Manager, the Fund's assets in the safekeeping of the Custodian will not be affected. However, in the event of the Custodian's insolvency, or someone acting on its behalf, the Fund may suffer a financial loss. However, this risk is mitigated to a certain extent by the fact that the Custodian is required by law and regulation to segregate its own assets from the assets of the Fund. The Custodian will also be liable to the Fund and the investors from any loss arising from, amongst other things, its gross negligence, willful default or fraud (subject to certain limitations).
